BEHL’s German Subsidiary EEW GmbH
Again Receives ISS STOXX ESG "Prime" Recognition, with Improved Overall Score

(20 August 2026, Hong Kong) – EEW Energy from Waste GmbH (“EEW GmbH”), a leading German waste-to-energy solutions company under Beijing Enterprises Holdings Limited (“BEHL”), recently once again received the "Prime" recognition from ISS STOXX ESG, an internationally recognized ESG rating agency. EEW GmbH maintained its corporate rating of B-, while its overall score increased from 51 points in 2025 to 56.78 points in 2026, remaining in the first tier of the global utility sector in sustainability.

This rating result creates strong synergies with EEW GmbH’s ongoing efforts to advance its sustainable finance business. This year, EEW GmbH updated its green financing framework and issued EUR555 million in green bonds. The framework clearly defines the eligibility criteria for green investments, while the ISS STOXX corporate rating provides a broader assessment of EEW GmbH’s sustainability performance, corporate governance standards, and ESG disclosure transparency. This provides investors and capital market participants with an independent and objective benchmark, thereby further strengthening EEW GmbH’s competitiveness in green financing in international capital markets.

Going forward, EEW GmbH will continue to deepen its focus on innovation in solid waste resource utilization and clean energy solutions, while further integrating ESG considerations into its core operations. It remains committed to being a steadfast practitioner of the global circular economy. BEHL will also continue to advance the green and low-carbon transformation of its businesses in China and overseas, implement its sustainable development strategy, and create long-term corporate value through robust ESG practices.
