The dazzling array of pictures on display, physical models and video clips took the participants through a lengthy exhibition tunnel of time, where they were indulged in new China's magnificent history and felt touched and proud of their native country's seven decades of glittering chapters. This exhibition further strengthened the visiting employees' ideals and beliefs, to the point that many of them stated their desire to convert their patriotism into actual actions for workplace contributions and adopt higher standards in carrying out their work duties, so as to contribute their intelligence and powers to their motherland's development.
