

China Power Recognized in UNGC's "20 Case Examples of Private Sector's Sustainable Development in China for 20 Years" and Jointed in the Global Roadshow

Recently, the United Nations Global Compact ("UNGC") held the Release Conference of "20 Case Examples of Private Sector's Sustainable Development in China for 20 Years" and the First Global Roadshow of United Nations Global Compact Liaison Office in China Participant Companies' Sustainability Actions at the United Nations Office in Beijing. As a member of UNGC and an honoree in the "20 Case Examples of Private Sector's Sustainable Development in China for 20 Years", China Power participated in the event, joined the global roadshow live stream, and engaged in in-depth discussions with various stakeholders.

China Power's case study, CCER-linked Green Bond to Encourage Renewable Energy Transition, demonstrated how innovative financial tools can drive clean, low-carbon transformation and sustainable development. Its pioneering approach – linking bond interest rates to CCER – creates a valuable precedent for sustainability-linked financial instruments, providing a new low-carbon financing pathway for the global energy sector. Celebrating the 20th anniversary of UNGC's ESG principles, UNGC launched ESG+20 series activities. The "20 Case Examples of Private Sector's Sustainable Development in China for 20 Years" campaign spotlighted exemplary sustainability initiatives from companies in China and those operating in China, promoting them worldwide.
