

Global Outlook

Phoenix has an international outlook, and in its approach to news reporting it seeks to provide the global Chinese audience with real-time information about the major developments in the Greater China region and the world at large. During the 2011 Phoenix reporting covered many key international events, including the earthquake and tsunami in Japan and the subsequent crisis at the Fukushima nuclear plant, the demonstrations in Egypt that led to the downfall of the Mubarak regime and the emergence of a much less stable government, the subsequent uprisings in Tunisia and Libya, which resulted in the replacement of the Tunisian President and the overthrow and death of the long-time Libyan leader Colonel Ghaddafi, the violent clashes in Syria between anti-Assad protesters and government forces, the financial crisis in Greece and other member states of the European community, the early stages of the forthcoming American Presidential campaign, and the aftermath of the death of Kim Jong-il, and the succession of his son, Kim Jong-un.

